

2009 Fire Alarms

The definition of a false alarm is any alarm that is a result of an intentional (malicious) activation when no fire existed or an alarm that is a result of a system malfunction. The definition of an unwanted alarm is any alarm activation that is a result of the fire alarm system operating as it was designed to do, though the ultimate cause of the alarm was false. For example, dust entering a smoke detector or a student burning food while cooking.
